FY 2007 Data Review

NCES and Census are conducting a final review of the 2006-2007 data. Please respond in a timely manner when we contact you with questions regarding your data and/or data plan.

TCS at AERA

Steve Cornman and Frank Johnson's proposal for a TCS presentation has been accepted for the 2009 conference of the American Educational Research Association. The AERA conference is scheduled for the week of April 13th-17th in San Diego, California.

Crosswalk

On Friday, November 21st, we will send out the Crosswalk letter that informs states of the start of the FY 2008 NPEFS Crosswalk processing year. This letter contains general information about the Crosswalk, updates for the new fiscal year, and offers non-Crosswalk states the opportunity to join the Crosswalk system of reporting.

We would like to thank all Crosswalk participants for their timely submissions this year. The new, web-based Crosswalk software wasn't made available until May, yet our respondents were still able to get their data in on time with relatively few questions or problems.

Updating NPEFS Names and Addresses

In preparation for the FY 2008 NPEFS data collection, we are updating the name and address files for state coordinators and authorizing officials. We have faxed name and address update requests to all 56 U.S. states and territories but have thus far received only 31 responses. Please respond to this update request - we need to know as soon as possible whether or not there have been changes to your contact information. NPEFS staff uses this contact information to mail out all official documents (including the passwords for the NPEFS web application).

Imputed Data Review

This month, imputed NPEFS data will be available for states to review in the web application. States with imputations should look for an e-mail that announces that imputations have been posted. States will have one week to log on to the NPEFS website, review their imputed data, and electronically approve the final numbers.

If you do not agree with the adjustments to your data or have questions about the adjustments, please contact NPEFS staff at (800) 437-4196. Remember, you will need your NPEFS password to access the NPEFS web application and view your imputed data.

School District Finance Update

FY 2007 Update:

We have only one non-responding state left for the FY 2007 survey cycle. The School District Finance survey staff is in the final stages of reviewing and editing data for most states so it is important we receive timely responses from respondents for any data questions we may have.

If you have received an e-mail from our staff and have not yet responded, please do so as soon as possible so your state's data can be finalized and delivered to NCES in a timely manner.
